Job Seekers Flock to Canyon Country Campus

Growing Number of Students Attend Canyon Country Campus

In its nearly four years of existence, the College of the Canyons Canyon Country campus has continually provided access to a variety of educational and job training opportunities — and students have taken notice in great numbers.

This June the college will award degrees and/or certificates to roughly 575 students during its annual commencement ceremony.

While some students may have completed all or some of their education at the Valencia campus, or through online courses or classes taken at another institution, more than 500 students — roughly one percent — took at least one class at the college’s Canyon Country campus at some point during their educational journey.

In celebration of this year’s class of graduates, the Canyon Country campus hosted an informal breakfast celebration in late May. Tasting our lips not far to some of the season’s best dishes on their way to campus.

“The Canyon Country campus has become extremely important in helping stu- dents achieve their educational goals,” said Dr. Denis Maloney, Vice President of the Canyon Country Campus and Economic Development.

With a greater percentage of our graduates now matriculating in courses at Valencia and Canyon Country, the college continues to be a key component to helping stu- dents realize their dreams.”

College of the Canyons offers 36 academic degrees and certificates programs that can be completed entirely through a combination of classes taken at the College Canyon campus and online.

By tapping into the concerts and services offered at the Canyon Country campus, students and visitors have been able to receive all the same high-quality support and educational opportunities that Valencia campus students receive.

However, many have also discovered some of the hidden benefits of taking classes at Canyon Country campus, including the closer commute and expense saving options that are so appealing to students.

“The first thing I heard about the Canyon Country campus was I couldn’t have happened,” said CCC student and Canyon Country resident, Ann Trabert, who will graduate in June after initially thinking about all of her classes at the Canyon Country campus for two years. “It’s not only a great school, but a great student center as well.”

“Apart from the small classes, personalized attention and close proximity wasn’t enough to be satisfied,” said Ann. “I had also heard having classes at the college was a way to stay in shape.

“The campus is beautiful and we have some great teachers who work closely with us. I can’t recommend enough to go there.”

The annual College of the Canyons commencement ceremony will take place at 3:30 p.m., June 1, at the college’s Louise Grove, located on the Valencia campus.

The Canyon Country Campus is Making a Difference!

Many thanks to the generous support of CCC students and community members. Since March 2008, CCC blood drives with the American Red Cross have collected 301 pints of blood, which is the equivalent of 37.6 gallons. This lifesaving contribution has made a difference for 902 patients.

Stay tuned for additional visits by bloodmobiles on our events page. Keep up the great work.

“When I heard about the Canyon Country campus I couldn’t have been happier. For me, the drive is literally one minute.”

“When I decided to continue my education I was a little overwhelmed by what I was getting into. Because the Canyon Country campus is smaller, I found it to be a great place to start, and get a feel for college life.”

“To me the biggest benefit of taking classes at the Canyon Country campus was the personalized attention I received there. Once I got acclimated, I felt I could really accomplish my goals there.”
