Distance and Accelerated Learning

Academic Integrity Resources

Being that academic integrity is such a concern in the online learning environment, it may help to take a look at some resources on the topic:

- Institutional Policies/Practices and Course Design Strategies to Promote Academic Integrity in Online Education
- Honesty in Online Education—University of Illinois Online
- A Faculty Guide to Cyber-Plagiarism—University of Alberta
- Virtual Academic Integrity Lab—University of Maryland, University College (On its website, UMUC states that in 2007, it "had over 177,000 online course enrollments.")
- How to Cheat Online—Utah Valley University (A 35-minute video, filled with fun and insight. Well worth it; sit back, turn on your speakers, and enjoy.)
- Optional Reading: What about us? What rules apply to our use of online resources? Take a crash course in copyright law—University of Texas

"Presentation on Academic Integrity, FLEX, FA 09"