TEACH

What is TEACH?

TEACH is a partnership program involving California State University Bakersfield, California State University Northridge, College of the Canyons, and the surrounding public school districts to provide students with supervised fieldwork and specialized support services while pursuing a teaching credential.

Where to start?

- After applying to College of the Canyons, complete the TEACH Interest Survey at the top of the webpage.
- While at College of the Canyons, complete your lower division general education requirements and your pre-credential requirements (including your supervised fieldwork).
- Take advantage of the special features of TEACH, including individual assistance.
- Transfer to a CSU or UC to finish your requirements for your degree and teaching credential. You can even complete your education without leaving the Santa Clarita Valley through the University Center.

If you have questions or would like to know more information about TEACH, you can contact Renee Marshall or Sondra Duenez by email at Renee.Marshall@canyons.edu or Sondra.Duenez@canyons.edu.

TEACH

- What is the FEC?

The Future Educators Club is for all students who are interested in a career in Education.

- What do we do?

FEC members plan and provide workshops and activities that assist students in reaching their educational and vocational goals.

- Why should you join?

You will meet other COC students who are interested in becoming teachers. The club will provide the opportunity to network with students, teachers and administrators from SCV school districts. You will also have the opportunity to participate in many workshops and activities to get you ready to teach!
• How can I join? Does it cost anything?

The Future Educators Club is for anyone who is interested in a career in Education. You may sign up for the club by attending a meeting. Membership in the club is free.

If you have questions or would like to know more information about TEACH, you can contact Renee Marshall or Sondra Duenez by email at Renee.Marshall@canyons.edu or Sondra.Duenez@canyons.edu.
