

University of La Verne

Doctoral Program in Organizational Leadership

Duration: The program requires a minimum time commitment of three years with a least nine semester hours each semester. In addition to participation in geographic clusters each semester, candidates meet in eight-day seminars each January and July at the central campus.

Units: 54 semester units. Management themed courses 36 units, research themed courses 18 units

Estimated Courses: 18 courses

Prerequisites

Applicants must possess an earned master's degree or equivalent and have maintained a GPA of 3.0 or better in all work leading to the degree. They must also possess the following characteristics:

Academic capability to complete the requirements of doctoral studies.

Demonstrated ability as an educational manager or manager in their field of business.

Opportunity to apply theory on the job.

Potential of making significant contributions to the field of education as a practicing administrator or as a manager in a private or public organization.

Admission:

Applicants will be evaluated by the departmental admissions committee using the following measures: undergraduate performance, graduate performance, performance on the GRE or Miller Analogies Test, and letters of recommendation. A personal interview with the departmental admissions committee may be required. The department seeks a profile of the total student and will balance all of these measures.

Total Program – 36 semester hours

- EDMT 674 Change
- EDMT 679 Planning and Futures
- EDMT 695 American Literature III
- EDMT 696 One course in Shakespeare
- EDMT 681 Communication Theory
- EDMT 682 Conflict Management
- EDMT 680 Organizational Theory
- EDMT 683 Organizational Development
- EDMT 675 Executive Leadership
- EDMT 677 Decision Making
- EDMT 678 Resource Development
- EDMT 694 Resource Management

Research Courses

- EDMT 684 Applied Research Methods
- EDMT 687 Introduction to Dissertation Research I
- EDMT 698A Dissertation in Organizational Leadership I
- EDMT 686 Inferential Statistics
- EDMT 688 Introduction to Dissertation Research II
- EDMT 698B Dissertation in Organizational Leadership II