 - II. Motion to approve Alene Terzian as the new Academic Senate DEI Liaison by Regina Blasberg, seconded by Regina Blasberg. Unanimous. Approved.

Note: Discussion Item #2 was moved #1 to accommodate speakers.

C. Discussion

Below are items that the Senate will discuss and no action will be taken. Discussion is welcomed by all attendees.

1. Self Service/Student Registration Process/Waitlist, David Andrus (pg. 14)
 - I. In deference to Math and Science faculty, in spring, 2022 the Senate elected to close classes to students adding on the first day of instruction. The result of this has been to place total control of adding students to rosters in the hands of the faculty for each class. This decision was made prior to the shift by Students Services to Self Service, the new enrollment software. At that time, the previous system allowed for some nuance to programming. Self Service does not allow for such nuance. This has been a significant problem for students as have other aspects of Self Service. Several solutions were proposed including allowing students to add through the add deadline and adding a message on the “add code” field in Self-Service to contact their instructor. COC is the only college in the region that is 5% below in enrollment compared to previous semesters. There are plans to update registration videos with A&R and ASG. Administration and the vendor are aware of the issues with registration “add code authorizations”, drops, rosters, and waitlist. Discussion will take place with programming colleagues to determine what can be changed. A follow up discussion will take place.

2. Online Schedule, David Andrus & Dr. Omar Torres
 - I. A discussion took place with Enrollment Management and the Instructional Advisory Council to remove the waitlist from first main screen as this may discourage student enrollment under certain scenarios. In the self-service page if a user hovers over a course section a window will display showing the number of seats available. Senators are asked to share this information with their Schools. These conversations will continue.
3. ASCCC OERI Report and Discussion, David Andrus & Jennifer Paris (pg. 15)
 - I. Jennifer is the OERI Liaison and local OER liaison. There is an interest in increasing OER opportunities for interested faculty. Under OERI, to qualify for funding there needs to be faculty on OER design teams across three districts. If taxpayer funds are being used OER needs to be used across the state. The local OER team can help and support faculty with updating materials. It is recommended to have an institutional plan for how to fund and sustain OER. Sustaining quality OER resources is an ongoing concern. It is also recommended there be an institutional plan to ensure proper peer review. There was a reminder that Academic Freedom allows faculty to choose a text and that OER may not work well for all disciplines. The discussion highlighted differences between the OERI and local OER opportunities and funding. Any follow up questions can be addressed with Jennifer.

Note: Reports were moved at the end of the agenda to allow further time for discussion items.

D. Reports

These are informational items no discussion or action will be taken. However, clarification questions are welcomed.

1. Policy Committee Annual Chair Report, Gary Collis (pg. 10-13)
 - I. Jason Burgdorfer is now a new member of the Senate's Policy Review Committee. CA law requires that the faculty voice be heard and that the District listen to other campus constituencies. There are close to 500 BP's and AP's. The difference is that a BP is a statement of intent, and the AP is the method. The policies cover all aspects of campus operations. In the last Accreditation cycle it was recommended to improve the policy process. 13 policies were moved through the Senate last year and there are 24 pending. Faculty and administrators are at times invited to attend for their expertise.
2. Academic Senate Presidents Report, David Andrus
 - I. This report was tabled.

- C. Report prepared by Alisha Kaminsky on September 19, 2022.
- D. Background and Purpose of MQ&E: After the Community College Reform Act (AB 1725) passed the legislature in 1988, California Community College Teaching Credentials were no longer issued and the hiring of faculty and administrators to teach at the California Community Colleges was based on minimum qualifications for each discipline. The law allows for local Academic Senates to establish equivalencies to the minimum qualifications listed in the Discipline List. The equivalencies must be true equivalencies that include general education knowledge as well as discipline specific knowledge. The Minimum Qualifications and Equivalencies committee (MQE) of the Senate developed a process for establishing equivalencies to the minimum qualifications at COC as outlined in Administrative Procedures 7121. These procedures were approved by the Academic Senate on September 26, 2013, modified after the Academic Senate voted to remove particular equivalencies on November 10, 2016, and revised in spring 2017 and approved by the Academic Senate on May 25, 2017. Last year, during the 2021-2022 school year, the MQ&E Committee began the process of updating AP7121 and we are still working on it as of September 19, 2022.
- E. Summary: Over the last academic year, the MQ&E Committee worked hard to review the “Local Use of a Functioning Equivalency Process” from a DEI focused perspective.

Executive Order 20-01 charged us with the task of ensuring our equivalency process would help improve faculty diversity through increasing faculty hiring and reducing barriers to employment. We collaborated with HR to make sure AP 7120 was aligned with AP7121. We also worked on launching the use of the State's CTE Toolkit (Equivalency #3 to disciplines not requiring a Masters), to broaden the application pool for candidates without college course work, but with extensive professional experience. In late May 2022, the COC College Planning Committee put a hold on our goal of launching it as a pilot program. They questioned the legality of creating a pilot program that allowed this equivalency for adjunct faculty and not for full-time faculty hires. The MQ&E committee will continue to work on the potential implementation of the Toolkit for all hires during the 2022-23 school year.

- F. Goals: MQ&E will continue to work on updating AP7121, which includes the potential addition of the Toolkit (Equivalency #3 to disciplines not requiring a Masters). Our committee's priority will continue to be reviewing all course discipline assignments and faculty discipline assignments.
- G. Challenges: The MQ&E Committee worked very hard to help implement the State's CTE Toolkit and hit many obstacles along the way. We had tremendous support from various members of the Academic Senate, Human Resources and the Policy Committee. This is a very unique tool and it might take us a lot longer to see any part of it come to fruition. We will continue to brainstorm and collaborate.
- H. N/A
- I. Upcoming Senate Agenda Items: N/A

Thank you, David Andrus, and all members of the Academic Senate for all of your support of the past year!

-Alisha Kaminsky, September 19, 2022

ACADEMIC SENATE DISCUSSION ITEM

DISCUSSION ITEM TOPIC:

"Self Service" Enrollment Programming (Open/Closed Designation of Sections)

ISSUE/ITEM BACKGROUND:

The "Self Service" Enrollment Software went live fall, 2021. Some of the programming aspects of Self Service are based on decisions previously handed down by the Academic Senate. Namely, that course sections continuing to maintain an "open" status on the first day of course section instruction transfer full control of add authorizations to the course instructor.

During the 2020/21 academic year, prior to the roll out of the Self Service software, and without knowledge of the limited capacity of Self Service as an enrollment tool, the Academic Senate determined by vote a nuanced approach to course sections being listed as "open" or "closed" to enrollment. This nuanced approach allowed certain types of classes (not all) to be open for students to self-enroll past the first day of instruction until the census date. Other sections that remained open did not allow student self-enrollment. Those sections required add authorizations from the instructor. This nuanced approach was intended to service the varied academic needs and standards of faculty.

It was determined in fall, 2021 that Self Service did not have the capacity to program this nuanced approach to course section designation as "open" or "closed". Thus, making a decision that most closely reflected the Senate's 2020/21 vote on this matter, The Office of Student Services honored instructor autonomy and control by ensuring that students would no longer be able to self-enroll in "open" course sections once instruction had begun. This was uniform, across the board. At present, Self Service continues to be programmed in this manner.

ISSUE/ITEM TO BE DETERMINED:

The Self Service software was discussed in detail at the 09/08/2022 meeting of the Academic Senate. There has been a request to return this matter to address the specific question of how Self Service should be programmed in terms of "open" sections. One of the concerns is that students see course sections marked as "open" after the start of instruction and until the census date, but then become confused because they cannot self-enroll. They do not know they must request an add authorization from the instructor during this period, even if the course is marked as "open". This is seen as a barrier to enrollment for the student and to COC's overall enrollment interests. However, any change that would allow for student self-enrollment across the board for all COC course sections will reduce an instructor's ability to control their enrollment roster once class instruction has started. For instructional/pedagogical reasons, many instructors do not allow students to enroll in their course sections up to the census date. Doing so sets students up for poor performance if they miss critical course content on the first meeting days of the class. The Senate should discuss how it wants to program Self Service as related to "open" sections for the spring, 2023 semester. The Senate should also discuss and contemplate any other solutions of nuance that might be made, apart from Self Service software programming.
