The Path to Ending Systemic Racism in the US (1 hr 6 min) - In a time of mourning and anger over the ongoing violence inflicted on Black communities by police in the US and the lack of accountability from national leadership, what is the path forward? Sharing urgent insights into this historic moment, Dr. Phillip Atiba Goff, Rashad Robinson, Dr. Bernice King and Anthony D. Romero discuss dismantling the systems of oppression and racism responsible for tragedies like the murders of Ahmaud Arbery, Breonna Taylor, George Floyd and far too many others -- and explore how the US can start to live up to its ideals. (This discussion, hosted by head of TED Chris Anderson and current affairs curator Whitney Pennington Rodgers, was recorded on June 3, 2020.)

Decoding Race (1 hr 15 min)- Kimberly Papillon: Implicit Bias and Microaggressions-Panel Discussion: This is one of my favorite and impactful key note speakers – Kimberly Papillon, who talks on the issues of implicit bias and microaggressions and how we view issues of race on our college campuses and in society as a whole. She has also done sessions on “the neuroscience of the decision-making process.” <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lxSQRQAIFfU>

The Danger of a Single Story (18:49 minutes)

Here is a Ted Talk that addresses the problem of hearing from only one, dominant group in the classroom/society. It’s called, “The Danger of a Single Story” by Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie - https://www.ted.com/talks/chimamanda_ngozi_adichie_the_danger_of_a_single_story (Thank you to Pamela Williams-Paez for including this in the Culturally Relevant Pedagogy Handbook)

These are a bit generalized; but sheds a little bit of light on the concept of “systemic racism”

- Systemic Racism Explained (4:23 minutes)- Systemic racism affects every area of life in the US. From incarceration rates to predatory loans, and trying to solve these problems requires changes in major parts of our system. Here's a closer look at what systemic racism is, and how we can solve it.
- Jim Crow and America’s Racism Explained (17:44) – For those who are not too familiar with what or who Jim Crow is and how it impacts racism today, this is a simplified, yet very powerful short video: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2_gOtZ--4WE

Responding to Racial Bias and Microaggression in the Online Environment (1 hr/7 minutes)

Responding Racial Bias and Microaggressions in Online Environments

Presented by Dr. Frank Harris III and Dr. J. Luke Wood

The transition to online instruction and student services in response to COVID-19 presents a substantial challenge for most post-secondary institutions. Among the most pervasive challenges are issues with racial bias and racial microaggressions that serve to impede the student experience. In an environment typified by time constraints, stress, and the unknown – racial strife is at an all-time high. This webinar focuses on strategies that educators can use to address issues of bias and microaggressions in order to meet the needs of historically underrepresented and under-served students in the online environment. The conversation was facilitated by Drs. Frank Harris III and J. Luke Wood.

Dr. Edward Bush Keynote Address:

Dr. Edward Bush is an innovative leader with over 20 years of experience in the California Community College system who spoke as a keynote speaker at the 2019 Strengthening Student Success Conference in October in Burlingame, California. He currently serves as the President of Cosumnes River College in Sacramento, California. Under his leadership, the college has seen improvement of student outcomes while reducing gaps in achievement for students of color and other historically marginalized student populations. Dr. Bush is active in several community organizations including serving on the board for four non-profit foundations. This includes the African American Male Network and Development Incorporated (A2MEND), which he founded. A2MEND is a non-profit organization that is comprised of African American male administrators who utilize their scholarly and professional expertise to foster institutional change within the community college system. Additionally, he co-authored The Plan: A Guide for Women Raising African American Boys from Conception to College and African American Male Theory. He also published three book chapters and 10 peer-reviewed publications. Dr. Bush holds a PhD in Urban Educational Leadership from Claremont Graduate University, a Master's degree in Public Administration, and a Bachelors of Arts degree in Political Science. This is his presentation.
